

2023 NCHL INTERNATIONAL HEALTHCARE LEADERSHIP AWARD

The National Center for Healthcare Leadership (NCHL) is dedicated to advancing healthcare leadership and organizational excellence by building diverse, inclusive, and collaborative relationships in the US and abroad. Inclusion of the term “in the US and abroad” in this mission statement is intentional; a significant portion of NCHL’s portfolio of activities focuses on and supports US healthcare organizations that work with international patients; providers; hospitals; governments; and other partners from around the world.

NCHL is pleased to accept nominations for the 2023 NCHL International Healthcare Leadership Award, which honors a leader whose commitment, values, and contributions have made a significant and positive impact on the provision of healthcare across international borders. Nominees may represent organizations that participate in one of NCHL’s membership programs – such as the US Cooperative for International Patient Programs (USCIPP) – or come from organizations completely outside of any NCHL program. Nominees should be actively engaged in the field and have significant international influence. Self-nominations are not eligible. Generally, nominees should currently be in a senior leadership role or previously have been in a senior leadership role. Nominees do not need to be currently employed.

The recipient of the 2023 NCHL INTERNATIONAL HEALTHCARE LEADERSHIP AWARD will be honored at the 2023 Gail L. Warden Leadership Award Celebration on Tuesday, November 14, at the Field Museum in Chicago.

Nominations are due Wednesday, July 26, 2023

- Please send the completed nomination form via email to Jarrett Fowler at jfowler@nchl.org
- If you have any questions about the nomination form or process, please email jfowler@nchl.org
