2026 CORPORATE MEMBERSHIP

Becoming a Corporate Member of the National Center for Healthcare Leadership (NCHL) positions your organization within one of healthcare's most trusted leadership networks. Through LENS, NCAF, and USCIPP, NCHL brings together senior executives, emerging leaders, academic partners, and global collaborators who are shaping the future of healthcare delivery, workforce development, and organizational performance.

Corporate Membership offers more than visibility, it provides direct access to the leaders, conversations, and insights that influence health system strategy nationwide. Through curated opportunities for thought leadership, strategic collaboration, and targeted engagement at NCHL's premier events—including the Gail L. Warden Leadership Excellence Award Celebration, the Leadership Excellence Summit, Executive Forums, and the USCIPP Annual Meeting—your organization can:

- Strengthen relationships with decision-makers across top health systems
- Contribute expertise that informs innovation, talent development, and workforce solutions
- Elevate your brand among leaders driving transformation in healthcare
- Access research, leadership competencies, and market intelligence that support your business goals

NCHL Corporate Members are true partners in advancing leadership excellence, amplifying your influence, expanding your network, and ensuring meaningful engagement with the leaders shaping healthcare's next decade.

NCHL'S PREMIER PROGRAMS

As a Corporate Member, your organization gains access to leaders across NCHL's premier programs—three nationally recognized communities shaping healthcare leadership, workforce development, and international collaboration.

➔ The Leadership Excellence Networks \(LENS\)

A highly engaged network of senior leaders from U.S. hospitals and health systems, alongside faculty and academic partners from graduate health management programs. LENS advances leadership and organizational excellence through collaborative learning, peer insights, applied research, and strategic dialogue. Corporate Members connect directly with executives and educators focused on talent strategy, leadership development, culture, and workforce innovation.

➔ The US Cooperative for International Patient Programs \(USCIPP\)

The nation's leading consortium of more than 60 academic medical centers and health systems with international programs. Members drive global partnerships, international patient services, and cross-border initiatives. USCIPP offers education, market intelligence, benchmarking, and strategic insights into global healthcare trends—providing Corporate Members exposure to internationally focused organizations and opportunities to support global health strategy and growth.

➔ The National Council on Administrative Fellowships \(NCAF\)

With more than 100 organizational members, NCAF unites fellowship sites and graduate health management programs to strengthen the early-career leadership pipeline. The council sets the industry standard for administrative fellowship recruitment and supports the development of future health system leaders. Corporate Members gain access to both academic and health system partners committed to cultivating emerging talent.
