

National Council on Administrative Fellowships (NCAF) – Premier Program Overview

NCAF provides administrative fellowship sites and graduate programs the tools to help their students when applying for administrative fellowships, by creating a uniform coordinated recruitment process, and providing access to national industry data, all while bringing fellowship sites to the table to share ideas, best practices, and expectations that allow for preparation of students for administrative fellowships.

More than 120 hospitals and health systems, along with more than 40 graduate health management programs participate in NCAF. An annual membership with NCAF is $1,250. Membership cycles run from January through December and July through June. New NCAF Members are charged an additional administrative fee of $500.
